

Satellite Radio should absolutely be able to offer local traffic and weather on their stations. It provides a service to paying subscribers that is extremely beneficial and is often better and more timely than what is on FM or AM stations. The Weather Channel is allowed to show local weather and radars on cable TV, so XM should be able to do local traffic and weather.